1

WORKING WITH OUR PARTNERS AT EVERY STAGE

Through a vast network of retail locations, our agronomists work directly with producer customers to provide agronomic support and high quality crop input products.

2

SUPPORTING CANADIAN AGRICULTURE

At Harvest, we buy our customers' crop back and send this product, through a vast high throughput network of elevators, into our crush facilities for processing.

3

VERTICALLY INTEGRATED AND SUSTAINABLE

Our plants in Lethbridge, Alberta and Yorkton, Saskatchewan refine raw canola to produce a golden, clean and pure product, ready for packaging.

4

BRINGING QUALITY INGREDIENTS TO THE TABLE

Refined material is packaged at our facilities in Lethbridge, Alberta and Oakville, Ontario. These products are then shipped to restaurant chains and food service establishments across Canada and the United States.

Since 1857, Richardson has built trusted relationships with farmers to bring quality agricultural products to the world market. Today, our business has grown to be vertically integrated from the farm to the consumer's table. Our canola processing plants supply the oil used in our packaging plants in Alberta and Ontario to bring Canadians a full line of canola oil products and margarines.
